

Rotary's favorite

It's not many people who live to be 97, let alone work at that age. Mrs. Abbott of Wakefield is still serving lunches to Wilmington Rotarians every week, as she has been for 40 years. On September 19, she turned 97 years old. She is shown with Past President Fred D. Cain. The club honored her in its meeting, the day after her birthday.

The Board of Directors of Wilmington Rotary has decided to honor her for her long service to Rotary, and particularly to Wilmington, by creating a special Paul Harris Fellowship in her name.

Cloverleaf at Route 93 may force West Street relocation

by Elaine DePasquale

Representatives from the Massachusetts Department of Public Works (DPW) laid their cards on the table last week. Either West Street will be relocated, or it will be dead-ended with no southerly access onto Route 129, said state engineer Walter Gustafson.

Gustafson was speaking, last Wednesday, to a crowd of more than 100 South Wilmington residents at a hearing of the South Wilmington Betterment Association.

His purpose was to explain the DPW's most recent plan for the relocation and reconstruction of West Street and Route 129, the plan which, according to Gustafson, Commissioner John Carroll has decided to build.

As part of the project, the DPW also plans to reconstruct the intersection of Routes 38, 129 and 62 in Wilmington Center.

Every equation has its constants and its variables. In this case, the key constant is a new cloverleaf ramp which will be built at the junction of Route 129 and I-93.

Because West Street's proximity to the proposed ramp's exits and entrances violates current state safety standards, the road must be moved, Gustafson said.

The only other option, according to Norman Mitchell of Barnes and Jannis, consultants to the DPW, would be to dead-end the southerly portion of West Street before it reaches Route 129. This, however, he admitted, could pose a serious access problem in the event of an accident or fire.

Gustafson told the South Wilmington residents that the DPW is definitely committed to building the cloverleaf.

It is a commitment, he said, which was made six years ago. The project, however, was halted before it actually began by the town of Reading which questioned the ramps' impact upon its water supply.

Since that time an Environmental Impact Study has been completed to provide answers to those questions and, in the process of the study, Gustafson said, the project was extended into Wilmington along Route 129.

Before the latest variation of the plan can be implemented a new environmental study must be done, since the plan's two major segments - South Wilmington and Wilmington Center - had never been considered as separate entities.

A public hearing on the new proposal will also be held at a later date.

The DPW expressed a willingness to work with South Wilmington residents on various design features of the plan. It was made clear at the meeting, however, that some type of construction will take place in South

Wilmington and in Wilmington Center within the next few years.

The proposal, as it stands, incorporates portions of two of the alternatives aired at a public hearing in May. It differs in that no construction is planned either between Avco and Wilmington Center or between the center and Richmond Street.

Also, a divided highway on Lowell Street which was part of both alternatives six and 10 would be considerably modified in the new proposal. According to Gustafson, Lowell Street will be divided only between Route 93 and Woodland Drive "to make a left turn situation at West Street possible."

Another significant difference in the new proposal is that it redirects much of West Street through industrial, rather than residential, land, sparing the homes of residents in the Suncrest Avenue area.

The proposal, however, would probably require the taking of three homes on West Street, one home on Route 129 across from Lucci's Market and the offices of Ken Miller and Al Fiorenza.

It calls for the creation of a one-way street on the old West Street, heading in the direction of Reading.

Miller said that the department was willing to change this feature of the plan, but added that if the street remained open to two-way traffic, trucks might use it instead of the new road as a shortcut to Route 129.

Other compromises which Gustafson said the DPW might consider were the installation of aerial pedways across Route 129 (traffic lights and sidewalks have already been included in the plan) and the elimination of a planned northerly are of the new East Street on the other side of Route 129.

This extension, which calls for the taking of at least one piece of property would run approximately parallel to the present street from Route 129 to the vicinity of Nickerson Avenue.

Its purpose, according to Mitchell, is to provide a way for eastbound traffic from Wilmington center to make a left turn onto West Street. Because of the median strip, this traffic would otherwise have to drive beyond Route 93, turn around there and back-track before entering the northerly end of West Street.

In Wilmington Center, the DPW proposes to depress Route 129 to the present level of the B&M railroad bed and bring Route 62 over it, as was outlined in what was previously called the Early Start Option. A ramp roadway would be constructed to accommodate all turns at the intersection.

Several businesses in Wilmington would have to be taken.

At the Wednesday night meeting, selectmen Bob Cain, Rocco DePasquale and John Imbimbo were present as well as State Representative James Miceli and Democratic candidate for representative in precinct 3, Mike Barrett.

Much of the discussion on the new proposal centered on traffic entering Route 129 via Woburn Street from the Woburn Industrial Park.

"Cars are already coming over that rickety bridge in Woburn and getting onto West Street as a way out," said one man. "More improvements on West Street would further encourage this."

According to Gustafson, however, the DPW is now trying to offer improvements in Woburn that would discourage this.

"Our role from here on is to resolve the problem we have here now and what happens way down the road at Mishuam Park is a problem of a magnitude we cannot possibly settle here," he said.

According to Mitchell, traffic counts have shown that three times as much traffic enters Woburn Street from Eames Street as does from the Woburn Industrial Park.

Miceli, however, said the Commissioner had told him the town's board of selectmen retained the option of dead-ending Woburn Street if it felt the traffic situation was getting out of hand. Gustafson concurred with Miceli's statement.

One lady at the meeting suggested that the best answer to traffic problems in the West Street area would be an access road onto Route 93 from the Industrial Park.

"Our whole neighborhood is being chewed up on both sides of West Street for the convenience of traffic from the industrial park," she said.

However, according to Miceli, the current philosophy of the DPW is to approve no new interchanges on I-93.

"We would be deluding ourselves to hope for this. The DPW thinks of 93 as a limited access highway," he said.

After a thorough discussion of the new proposal, the South Wilmington Betterment Association recessed. At their October meeting, members plan to vote on whether or not they will support the proposal.

Old bakery deemed a hazard

Wilmington firefighters responded to a blaze last week at a vacant building which formerly housed the Town Bakery on Salem Street. Firefighters say the blaze was set by arsonists.

As a result of the fire, and at the request of Deputy Chief Daniel Wandell, Building Inspector Charles Lawrenson has issued a notice of violation to the property's owners, Harry and Helen Cheifitz.

No one was injured in the fire. However, the building, which has been vacant for many years is, according to Lawrenson, "an attractive nuisance."

At least two firefighters have been injured while fighting fires there in the past few years, he said.

One, a Tewksbury firefighter, was hurt seriously, about two years ago.

Deputy Chief Wandell said that because the structure is open and unstable, it poses a hazard to children in the neighborhood.

According to Lawrenson the structure has been a problem since 1969, but it has gotten progressively worse in the past two years.

Although other notices of violation have been issued over the years, Lawrenson said, no definitive action has been taken. This time, however, Lawrenson said, he will pursue the matter in court if no action is taken to remedy the hazard the structure poses.

Moped accident

A North Wilmington youth had a rather unfortunate experience Tuesday on a borrowed Moped.

Jeff Cuoco, 18, of Longwood Road, borrowed a Safari moped and took a spin around the North Wilmington parking lot. He lost control of the bike, however, as he attempted to swing around a corner of the Town Crier building.

He struck a parked car belonging to Lorraine Stickney and fell from the bike, sustaining multiple injuries, including a possible broken nose, injuries to one ankle, plus cuts and bruises.

He was treated at the scene by Jerry Duggan and George Anderson, emergency medical technicians (EMT) from the Wilmington Fire Department. Steve Robbins, an off-duty EMT, happened upon the scene and assisted. Cuoco was then taken to Winchester Hospital in the ambulance.

The moped had been borrowed from Jim Bradley.

Free clinic

The regular monthly immunization clinic sponsored by the Board of Health for children will be held October 3 from 9 to 10 a.m. at the Town Hall Annex.

Immunizations at the clinic are free for all children between the ages of three months to the time they enter school.

Ken Wilson concert

Andover Street's Ken Wilson will present "Music for an Autumn Evening" on the organ at the Hammond Castle, in Gloucester, on Saturday, Oct. 14 at 8 p.m.

One of New England's most noted organists, he teaches classical and popular organ at his Andover Street studio and is in demand as a recitalist.

Tickets for the Hammond Castle program are selling at $4 each, and the museum may be called at 283-2080.

Booster Button night

High school students will be making the rounds of homes in Wilmington on Thursday evening, selling Booster Buttons. The donation is one dollar. All proceeds are for the Boosters' Club scholarship fund.

Lucaya Estates bond released

By a four-to-one vote (chairman abstaining) the Wilmington Planning Board, Tuesday night released the bond being held for the construction of streets and sidewalks in Lucaya Estates, off Park Street. The Town Engineer reported he had made an inspection, and found everything looked "just wonderful."

The bond was released contingent on the developer making a bond for $8400, in care of the Town Engineer, to pay for the installation of street lights by the Reading Municipal Light Co.

Swimming lessons

This fall the Wilmington Recreation Department is again offering Red Cross lessons at the Shawsheen Tech pool. The lessons offered will include advanced beginner, intermediate, and an advanced swimming skills course. There will be 10 lessons at the Tech starting Sunday, October 15.

Testing and class placement for advanced beginner and intermediate will be done at the Shawsheen Tech pool Sunday, October 1 from 5 to 6 p.m. Each child should be eight years of age or older and be able to swim the length of a 25 yard pool with a crawl stroke. A parent must accompany each child.

Registration for all lessons will be taken by calling the Recreation Office, 658-6512. Classes will be filled on first come, first served basis.

The cost is $5 per person and is payable on the first day of the class, October 15.

There will also be adults' swimming from 7:30 to 9 p.m. on Sundays. Open swim for all town residents and children will be from 6 to 7:30 on Sundays.

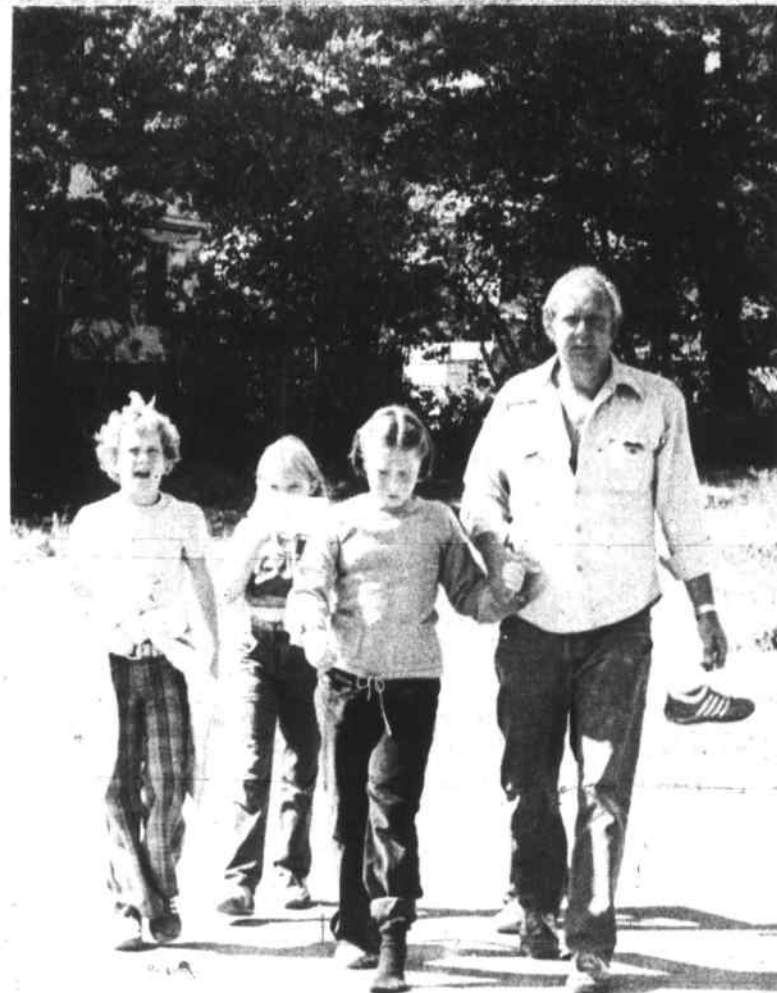

Parents are advised that the shallow end of the pool is four feet, two inches deep. Non-swimmers will not be allowed to participate unless accompanied by an adult. There is a 50 cent charge per person per visit.

All Wilmington swimming programs at the Tech will not be held on Sunday, October 8.

Miracle walker

Among the more determined walkers in Sunday's Wilmington Community Fund Walkathon was one Chucky Martin. He walked more than two miles of the 12 mile route before calling it quits.

She wouldn't give up

Another determine walker was Stacy Snyder, who refused to give up, even after developing a blister. Her dad, Vance Snyder walked with her, carrying her sneaker. Also walking with her were Cindy Hibbins and Sandy Paolini.

Fall gymnastics program

A fall gymnastics program for girls has been tentatively set by the Recreation Department.

The program will be for eight weeks and will be held in the High School gym on Saturdays and on Monday and Tuesday evenings. Schedules for gymnastic classes will be announced at a later date and will depend on the response to the program.

Testing for grades four through 12 will be held on Saturday, September

30 in the High School gym according to the following schedule:

Grades four through six, 12:30 to 1:30; grades seven and eight, 1:30 to 2:30; grades nine through 12, 2:30 to 3:30.

Pre-school (ages four and five) plus grades one through three should call the Rec Office at 658-6512 to register. Cost is $10 for the eight weeks.

Girls should go to the gym dressed in leotards for testing.

Battle Andover Saturday

Wildcats must stop the Farnham connection

by Rick Cooke

Wilmington and Tewksbury are involved in the two most interesting games in the MVC this week with the Wildcats travelling to Andover to tangle with the 1-0 Golden Warriors and the run and shoot passing attack led by speedy receiver Paul Farnham, whom MVC opponents hope is the last in a long line of talented Andover Farnhams.

While the Wildcats are coming off a surprisingly easy win over a shaky Austin Prep team, Tewksbury is attempting to come back with some measure of confidence intact after a disappointing 18-2 setback to Andover in a game where the offense couldn't control or move the ball and the defense just couldn't handle that much responsibility at this stage of the season.

While the Cats will be attempting to keep that confidence flow going after a good game scrimmage against Stoneham and an MVC win over the Cougars, the Redmen are in a situation where they must win in order to prove something to themselves. Redmen coach Bob Aylward said at the outset of the season that his team lacked faith in itself. A tough 10-7 loss to Boston College High served as a good pick-me-up although it was still a tough pill to swallow. That cautious optimism in Tewksbury was deflated somewhat when the young offense failed to move the ball against an Andover team that could be in trouble if Wilmington's offense is in gear this Saturday.

Other MVC games in this second week of the conference schedule: Austin Prep at Chelmsford; Billerica at Lawrence Central Catholic and Lawrence at Dracut. This week's forecast:

Tewksbury 14-Methuen 6....There was a temptation to pick Methuen in a minor upset because the Rangers have shown that they can move the ball behind senior quarterback Kevin Bradley and speed back Kevin Tarr who caught a bomb for a touchdown in last week's 24-13 win over Central - a win that snapped a 19 game Ranger losing streak over two seasons.

Last season the Rangers were not the complete patsies of years past, losing seven games by one touchdown or less. The year was a Ranger strong point a year ago and the offense looks like it's finally coming around under former Austin Prep coach Larry Klimas.

Methuen hasn't been able to move the ball against Tewksbury in recent years and a Bob Aylward coached team in Tewksbury hasn't lost to Methuen in four tries.

The Tewksbury defense needs a stronger effort in the middle of the field against the Rangers than was shown against Andover last week. The Redmen defense has shown the ability to come up with the big play on occasion during the first two games and this pick is based on that defense's ability to hold Methuen in check while quarterback Dennis Vecchi gets untracked to hopefully have his second good passing day of the season. If this becomes a wide open game offensively Tewksbury will be in danger of starting the season 0-3 with tougher opponents than the Rangers on the horizon.

Andover 21-Wilmington 14....The Andover defense can be exploited by the pass and if quarterback John Robarge is on Wilmington could stage that upset. The Wildcat defense blanked Austin Prep, but this week's test is obviously tougher as the Golden Warriors have many weapons besides Farnham.

They include running backs Dave Nardone (over 100 yards against Tewksbury), Eddie Collins (the coach's son), Mel Berger (used sparingly, but effectively last week), fullback Ray Lynch and junior quarterback Tom Walsh who stepped in for senior Manny Silva (separated shoulder) to pass for 129 yards and one touchdown on a 10 for 17 day in Tewksbury.

Again defense will play a big part in any upset here. The Wildcat defensive front must put some pressure on the Andover quarterback - something Tewksbury didn't do and paid the price for the failure a week ago.

Chelmsford 34-Austin Prep 6....Two media people I talked to last week actually picked Lawrence to upset Chelmsford last Saturday after the Lancers manhandled Austin Prep 21-0 in the MVC opener for both teams the previous week. The forecasters looked for a Chelmsford letdown. There just aren't any low points under Lion coach Tom Caito and this week should prove to be no exception against a Cougar team that failed to make some obvious defensive adjustments in the Wilmington loss. They had better make them here or prepare to get out the calculators Saturday in Chelmsford.

Central Catholic 20 Billerica 8....The Red Raiders simply have too many weapons on offense for Billerica although the defense just might keep it close for three periods before the roof falls in at Lawrence.

Dracut 28-Lawrence 14....This will be Dracut coach Ed Murphy's 101st win - an MVC record that he richly deserves off the teams he has turned out at this small school.

Lawrence once again has a depth problem and the defense is suspect. The offense led by quarterback Sammy Johnson and all purpose runner Jim Moran could put some points on the board.

Last Saturday's MVC results and standings:

Shawsheen romps

The Shawsheen Tech football team rolled to a 47-12 romp over Tyngsboro Saturday, setting a school record for points in one game in improving their slate to 2-0. Coach Bill Ritchie's Rams have now won 10 of their last 12 games.

The Rams piled on the points early against the injury riddled Tyngsboro club, scoring 14 points in the first quarter and 19 more in the second to roar out to a 33-0 lead at halftime.

Quarterback Scott Burke tallied three touchdowns of 16, 2 and one yard respectively for the easy winners while halfback Fred Olshaw broke Tyngsboro's back with a 26 yard scamper that was the Ram's second TD of the first quarter.

Mark Hurley hauled in a 30 yard touchdown pass from Burke before halftime while the other Ram Scores came when Bill Roderick rambled 50 yards in the fourth quarter and Mike Sheehan ran back an interception 64 yards for a touchdown late in the game.

Glen Bosteels booted three conversions for the Rams while Jack Campbell rushed for two points after the final Shawsheen touchdown.

Warriors clip Wildcats

The Andover Golden Warriors sent the WHS cross country team down to its second MVC defeat with a 25-33 decision at Andover Monday afternoon. Wilmington's John Mucci was leading over the three mile cross, but took a wrong turn with about 200 yards to go and was overtaken by Andover's Keith Worthley. Worthley held on for a first place finish at 16:45 while the junior Mucci settled for second spot with a 16:47 time.

Sophomore Carl Borgeson (17:25) continued his impressive running with a fourth place finish while Kevin Cogan grabbed fifth for coach Frank Kelley's Cats in 17:28.

A pair of sophomores scored for Wilmington as Dave Vitrus placed 10th and Mike Cassidy 12th. The WHS junior varsity evened its record at 1-1 with a 21-37 win.

Moran tripped up

Senior Wildcat fullback Tim Moran (33) is tripped up by Cougar Bradford Dee (63) of Tewksbury after a good gain. Moving in to help out is Austin's John Clark (29). Trailing the play for Wilmington is guard Tom Carroll. Wilmington blanked the Cougars 20-0.

Briggs sparks Wildcats

Wildcats blank Austin Prep 20-0

When a team covers 150 yards and doesn't score, then the opponents know that they're either in for a long afternoon or one saved by breaks. It was the former Saturday at Austin Prep as the Wildcats made coach John Ritchie's debut as head man a successful one with an offense that ground the Cougars 20-0 behind two touchdowns by junior halfback Chris Briggs.

It was the Merrimack Valley Conference football opener for the Wildcats while the Cougars are off to an inauspicious 0-2 start - while being outscored 41-0 in the first two games.

The Wildcats got on the board with 33 seconds left in the first quarter as Chris Briggs scored on a 15 yard pass from junior quarterback John Robarge. Briggs kicked the conversion to give Wilmington a 7-0 lead.

Tri-captain and defensive tackle

Tom Carroll had set up the first WHS score of 1978 when he broke through to block a Dave DeLisle punt at the Cougar 17.

Earlier in the quarter the Cat defense shut down an Austin Prep threat at the WHS 15 when sophomore defensive back Tim McCann intercepted a Rob Landry aerial.

In the second quarter the Wildcats capitalized on a short Cougar punt at the Wilmington 46. Robarge engineered a 54 yard drive at that point with passes to junior end Dave Woods highlighting the march. Woods gained 14 and 16 yards on a pair of fine receptions before Ritchie sent his 'designated runner' into the game.

Austin Prep transfer Dave Ballou was the man who was sent in to play quarterback for one play and he filled the running bill nicely with a 10 yard sweep to score with less than five minutes to play in the first half.

Briggs' kick was wide right, but Ritchie and his Cats had a 13-0 lead that appeared insurmountable considering the fine play of the WHS defense throughout the first half.

The teams slugged it out through a scoreless third quarter before the Wildcat offense got back in gear with a long drive that put the game out of reach in the final stanza.

Briggs was the workhorse on this final drive with five carries to cap it and a two yard TD to finish the Cougars off. Chris also picked up 14 yards on a pass from Robarge to fuel the march earlier. The junior back capped off his fine performance by booting the extra point to give the Wildcats their 20-0 margin.

Linemen of the Week

Tom Carroll

The senior guard-tri-captain played an outstanding game Saturday as the offensive linemen of the week, keying the Wildcat sweeps and turning in a fine job pass blocking for junior quarterback John Robarge who completed 14 passes.

Tom also blocked a punt in the first quarter to set up the first Wildcat touchdown.

His hobbies include baseball, basketball, track and auto mechanics.

The WHS veteran with hopes of becoming a fireman lives at 12 Cottage Street with his mother Patricia Carroll O'Brien.

Mike Russo

The Wildcat defensive lineman of the week is just a sophomore with a good WHS football future ahead of him off Saturday's effort that included nine unassisted tackles, four assisted tackles, a tackle that caused a fumble, a fumble recovery and two quarterback sacks in his first varsity game.

The WHS defensive end lives at 99 Chestnut Street with his parents Angelo and Bernice Russo.

Wildcats looking for first win

The WHS soccer team, perennial contenders in the Merrimack Valley Conference, having won three championships and qualified for Eastern Mass Tourney play for nine consecutive years, find themselves two points out of the conference basement after losses to Methuen and Billerica and a tough tie with Lawrence last week.

Methuen and Billerica clipped the Cats by identical 3-1 counts to continue in the thick of the conference race. The Rangers are in first place with a 4-0-1 mark while the Indians rest in fourth place with a 3-1 record.

Monday's 0-0 tie with Lawrence (2-1-1) was frustrating in that the Wildcats dominated the game throughout in terms of field position. WHS had numerous opportunities to beat Lancer netminder Domingo Infante, but couldn't cash in. Wildcat goalie Steve Wingate played another strong game for coach Bill Peabody.

Saturday the Wildcats dropped a 3-1 decision to the red hot Billerica Indians with junior midfielder Paul Sousa braking the Indian shutout with nine minutes left to play.

Billerica's all-star netminder Aaron Rood was moved up to the forward line and scored the Indians' first goal on a penalty shot coming after a Wildcat handball infraction at 11:30 of the opening period.

Steve Hong scored the game winner three minutes later after Jim Elwood had stolen the ball for Billerica. Jim Murphy upped the Indian lead to 3-0 at 11:30 of the second period.

Wednesday the improved Methuen Rangers remained unbeaten with a solid 3-1 win at Wilmington. Methuen pulled out to a 2-0 first period lead on goals by Dave Marceau and Dave Collopy.

Junior striker Steve Scanlon scored his first goal of the season at 8:02 of the second period to cut into the Ranger lead but the visitors came out strong in the final period with Dan Carraccio pumping the insurance goal past Wildcat senior goaltender Wingate at 12:01.

Wingate came up with 26 saves for coach Bill Peabody's Wildcats while Methuen all-star netminder Chris Childs made 18 stops for the first place Rangers.

This week the Wildcats hope to get on the winning track with games against Chelmsford (Sept. 27) and Austin Prep (Oct. 2).

Lanni on the move

Mark Lanni pushes the ball upfield for the Wildcats against the Methuen Rangers. Wilmington has yet to win a game after Monday afternoon's 0-0 standoff with Lawrence.

One of 26 saves

Wildcat goalie Steve Wingate moves out to make a save with some help from teammate Tim Donnelly during last Wednesday's 3-1 loss to Methuen. The WHS soccer squad's record is 0-3-2.

WHS field hockey

Girls blank Lions, tie Warriors

The WHS field hockey squad remained in a dead heat in the MVC field hockey race last week with a 1-0 blanking of Chelmsford and a 1-1 draw with the Andover Golden Warriors at the WHS field last Thursday afternoon.

Mary Ann Campbell got the Cats on the board first against Andover when she took a nice pass from co-captain Cheryl Cushing and blasted the ball past Andover netminder Pam Alexander.

Pat Edwards scored the Andover goal off a scramble in front of Wilmington goaltender Marianne DeVita. DeVita and Alexander each had three saves in the MVC contest.

The tough Wildcat defense stood up in last Tuesday's win over the Lions with the sophomore Campbell scoring the game winning goal in the first half. Senior co-captain Janet Zambardi registered the assist on the game's lone goal. DeVita recorded her second shutout in the WHS nets with two saves on the afternoon.

A freshman, Logan will be a forward for the Falcons. He is a 1977 graduate of Wilmington High School. The accounting major is the son of Blanchard and Marcia Logan of 10 Marcia Road, Wilmington.

Youth Hockey Highlights

Terrazzano blanks Bedford 2-0

Squirt B goaltender Robert Terrazzano came up with 33 saves to blank Bedford 2-0 in Wilmington Youth Hockey action last week. Robert's performance keyed the win as the Squirt B's could manage just 10 shots for the game.

Andy Aresco gave Wilmington a 1-0 lead in the first period with help from Marty Laquidara. It was Aresco who lit the lamp again in the second period with the assist going to Joey Costabile.

The line of Aresco, Laquidara and Todd Boudreau paced the offense while the defense was led by John Murray and John Mytych.

In a game played earlier in the week Tewksbury topped Wilmington 3-1 with Aresco scoring the only goal assisted by Mario Martiniello.

Bantam A's drop first

The Bantam A's (1-1-1) lost their first game last week as Watertown handed the Wilmington club a 3-2 setback.

Chuck McNeil got Wilmington on the board at 8:21 of the first period assisted by Darryl MacDonald before Watertown came back with a pair of lamp-lighters to take a 2-1 lead after one period.

After a scoreless second period Watertown took a 3-1 lead at the 10:02 mark of the final period. The Bantam A's cut the lead to the final 3-2 when George Boudreau scored an unassisted goal at 2:57.

This Thursday (September 28) the Bantam A's battle Cambridge in a 9:35 p.m. game at the WYIA before taking on Stoneham Sunday at the Burlington Ice Palace starting at 7:50 p.m.

Squirt A's in scoring slump

Wilmington's Squirt A's find themselves in a scoring slump after dropping 3-0 and 2-0 games last week.

Saturday at the WYIA Wilmington was handed a 3-0 setback by a strong skating Winthrop team despite the outstanding play of goaltender Kevin Sutton.

Sunday in Winchester the Squirt A offense couldn't get untracked as another strong effort by Sutton went for naught in a 2-0 setback.

The Squirt A's hope to get the attack started this Saturday (September 29) when they take on Medford in a 12:20 p.m. game at the WYIA.

Pee Wee A's open season

The Wilmington Pee Wee A's opened their season last Wednesday night (Sept. 20) with a 6-1 rout of Methuen. That was followed by a 5-1 coast over Medford in a Middlesex League Pee Wee AA game played at Burlington Saturday night.

Wilmington got on the scoreboard early in the Burlington win as Dave Fuller scored from Jimmy Newhouse with less than a minute gone in the first period. Later in the first period Newhouse got on the board with Fuller returning the favor with his help.

Paul Brady pumped home an unassisted goal in the second period to give the Squirts a 3-0 lead.

Newhouse and Fuller each scored a shorthanded goal in the third period to put the game out of reach for the Medford squad.

Medford snapped the shutout with a goal late in the third period. Billy Wolfe and Tony Aresco shared the netminding duties for the easy winners.

The next game for coach Don MacDonald's club is at the WYIA Monday (Oct. 2) at 5:20 p.m.

GIVE BLOOD!

It takes all types!

TEWKSBURY:

ELKS HALL
South Street
THURSDAY, SEPT 28
2:00 PM - 7:45 PM

WILMINGTON:

FIRE STATION
SATURDAY, SEPT 30
10 AM - 3 PM

YOURS TOO!

This week, two blood drives will be held locally. The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the Tewksbury-Wilmington Elks Hall on South Street in Tewksbury on Thursday from 2 to 7:45 p.m. and at the Wilmington Fire Station on Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

All healthy persons between the ages of 17 (with parental consent if under 18) and 66 are invited to give blood to help patients in this area.

Donating is safe, simple, and satisfying. Your body contains about 10 or 12 pints of blood, and the blood you give is quickly replaced. You may safely donate every eight weeks.

The entire process usually takes about 30 minutes. Before you give, a careful medical history is taken. Your temperature, blood pressure, pulse and hemoglobin level will be checked. After the blood is drawn, it is typed and tested for diseases which might be transmitted to the receiving patient or patients. This mini-physical actually benefits the donor as well as the patient, because if any of the tests indicate a need for medical attention, the donor is referred to his or her personal physician.

Some units of blood are broken down into components to assure maximum utilization. This means that your blood donation may actually help several different patients. Since whole blood must be used within 21 days of donation, and some of the components within a few hours, there is always the need for a constant, fresh supply of blood to be donated by volunteers in the community.

Blood is one of the doctor's most valuable tools, and many people are alive today because blood was available when they needed it.

The Red Cross doesn't need blood; people do. The Red Cross relies entirely on voluntary donors to help perpetuate a constant, sufficient blood supply, because blood comes from only one source - healthy people who are willing to give of themselves.

Senate race: Cain vs. Buell

by Elaine DePasquale
Bob Cain and Bob Buell, the two candidates for State Senate in this district, have more in common than their first names.

Few strong ideological differences separate the pair who, having won their respective primaries, are now plunging headlong into a different and in some ways more difficult race.

Both advocate cutbacks on government spending, both call themselves fiscal conservatives and both sell insurance to earn a living.

Yet each is convinced that he is best qualified for the job and each feels sure that voters will make up their minds according to a candidate's merits, leaving the race wide open for either Republican or Democrat.

Democrat Bob Cain was aided in his primary win over three other Democrats by an extremely heavy Wilmington vote.

Cain polled 2,120 of the Wilmington ballots, or nearly 80 per cent of that town's Democratic vote.

Wilmington, according to Cain, is a key town in the district. A selectman in the town, as well as a businessman, Cain is well known here.

He admits he is counting on that fact, for the Wilmington vote is extremely crucial to his candidacy.

Although he and Buell hold similar positions on some issues, Cain pointed out that he does not support state funding for abortions while his opponent does. Buell said he places more value on the life of the mother than on that of the fetus.

Both candidates would seek to limit fiscal autonomy for school budgets; but, while Buell believes a four-fifths vote of a town meeting should be necessary to overturn a school budget, Cain says he prefers the margin be a simple majority.

"I have yet to see a program that is worthwhile defeated at town meeting," Cain said.

A good example of the need for a check on the school budgets, he said, is a situation which developed when Shawsheen Tech's six member towns cut nearly $1 million from the school's proposed budget. According to Cain, the Tech sued the towns and regained the money only to find out it wasn't needed after all. Since then the funds have been returned to the towns, but the towns have still had to pay several thousand dollars in legal costs.

If he is elected, Cain says his first priority will be to "incorporate sound business practices into state government."

"You don't spend more money than you take in," he said.

Cain said he believed that cutting back on waste in governmental agencies would generate a sufficient amount of money to enable the state to continue with important services.

Lowering taxes does not necessarily mean giving up police and fire departments, he said.

Cain supports the classification amendment and "any proposition that would cut taxes."

He perceives Wilmington to be "a political town." "People in Wilmington are for-unate," he noted, "because they are very involved in their government...They get out and vote...They are very aware of what's happening."

His candidacy, he said, gives Wilmington citizens a unique opportunity to have both a state senator and a state representative from their hometown representing them in the legislature.

Republican Bob Buell also believes he has a strong chance to win the First Essex and Middlesex state senate seat.

The 10-year veteran of the Massachusetts House of Representatives decided not to run again for the House, even though he would have been unopposed, and seek instead the state senate seat being vacated by William Saltonstall, Jr.

His primary motivation, he said, was the encouragement he received to run from Saltonstall, who was stepping down after 12 years in office.

Buell is a co-sponsor of the much publicized proposition 2½. Although the bill was killed in the legislature this year and plans to revive it with an initiative petition have been stalled by the Attorney General's office, Buell says if he is elected he will re-file the bill as a regular statute with a few modifications.

Like his opponent, Buell said that his first priority, if elected, would be to put the state's financial house in order. Something which, he says, has not yet happened.

He defended his position on requiring a four-fifths vote to overturn school budgets by citing the fact that in a number of the state's cities and towns, parents of school children are in a minority.

Requiring a four-fifths town meeting vote to overturn a school committee budget would provide a double check, but would not strip the school committees completely of power, he said.

Both Buell and Cain believe that any state mandated programs should also be completely funded by the state.

One state mandated program Buell said he voted for during his 10 years in office is one which provides tax exemptions for persons over the age of 70. He said he, personally, voted for full state funding for this program.

However, at the present time the program is only 30 per cent funded by the state.

"I believe we should encourage people to hold onto their homes," he said.

As an advocate of reduced spending, Buell said he would specifically cut back on excesses in the welfare budget and in the budget of the department of education.

"We have more bureaucrats causing more grief to local school committees," he said in reference to some of the department's state mandated school programs.

Buell also said he would seek more efficiency in the legislative branch where, he said, staff members could be better utilized, eliminating the need for hiring more people.

Buell's strongest showing came in Topsfield, Wenham, Andover and his hometown of Boxford. His future campaign plans, he said, will concentrate on the larger communities of the 17-town district such as Gloucester, Ipswich, Wilmington, Reading and North Reading.

Glen Road students donate to health center

Students at the Glen Road School have received a letter of thanks from the Regional Health Center Building Fund.

Each year the students and parents of the Glen Road School devote a great deal of time and energy to the success of their annual school fair.

This year, by a vote of the school's Parent Council, a portion of the money raised at the fair was donated to the Wilmington Regional Health Center.

In her letter, Jo O'Neil, chairman of the Wilmington community campaign portion of the Building Fund, thanked the students for their gift of $150.

"It is reassuring," she wrote, "that our friends are showing such strong support...since many of us have worked for many years to bring medical facilities to the Wilmington area."
